Michael Page / KPMG Breakfast Seminar: Spotlight on Performance Management

“9 (box) x 5 (point rating scale) = 1 unhappy employee?”

One of the criticisms frequently levelled at HR is the lack of quantitative, tangible measures across all aspects of the lifecycle. Yet, when it comes to appraising employees' performance, there is plenty of evidence to suggest that distilling a year's worth of effort into a number is as likely to alienate and disengage as it is to motivate. What can HR do to address this issue?
